HOPE

BREAST  CANCER
PATIENT RESOURCE FUND

Supported by a community grant from Susan G. Komen for the Cure in partnership with the Blount Memorial Foundation and Community Outreach and the Hope for Today Cancer Support Group

Women diagnosed with breast cancer face tremendous physical, emotional and financial challenges. While each of these factors can be overwhelming, it is the financial burden that can cause undue stress at a time when the patient needs to focus on hope, health and healing. To help ease this burden, eligible breast cancer patients can apply for financial assistance from the Project HOPE Breast Cancer Patient Resource Fund. The fund is supported by a Susan G. Komen for the Cure community grant, which includes monies raised during the annual Komen Race for the Cure.
